COMFORT FOR BABIES

How thankful I am for this electric fan. I don't know how the babies would get along during this hot spell without it. And just think—all this comfort for only four cents a foot each a day.

Its breeze is better than a summer breeze isn't so drowsy, and the strength can be regulated at will. In addition to these advantages, the breeze from a

MORE EVANGELISM EVIDENT THROUGH BAPTIST CHURCH

Chairman of Commission on Spreading Gospel Tells of growth of Missionary Spirit in Denomination.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire
Minneapolis, Minn., May 18.—A growth in the evangelical spirit in churches is reported from nearly every part of the field which the meeting Baptist convention covers, that Rev. Dr. Thomas Villers, chairman of the commission on evangelism told the convention in his report today. He said that in two states every church within the year had held special meetings and that in other states the number of churches holding such services has already increased, while in one state eight churches within two months added the requisite number of converts to meet their first year quota of the mailing list.

From one section comes the news said Dr. Villers, "that several dozen rural churches have been re-organized and are now taking their proper place in the work of the kingdom. One state reports the largest number of baptisms with a single exception since the great awakening of 1857. Several states report more baptisms than in any years of the history, and in one state the number is double that of any preceding year."

In the view of what our experience has taught us during the last twelve months and in response to suggestions which our state conventions have made as to methods that have been helpful, we offer the following recommendations:

That we emphasize once more the necessity of securing the largest possible number in every local church, well give themselves to personal evangelization, that in every church groups of eight preferably under the leadership of the pastor be formed for prayer and instruction in evangelizing, that teams of hymnists be organized wherever possible not only to work in the churches and factories and streets of our cities, but especially for evangelism the towns, villages and cross country districts, that in addition to developing and maintaining the spirit of evangelism throughout the year, every church be urged to hold at least a two-weeks series of meetings, for the sole purpose of winning the lost to Christ.

That we favor "Christianity Evangelism" which several states have successfully presented; the state secretary or superintendent of evangelistic committees retaining the names of pastors and laymen who are willing to give a specified time to evangelistic meetings.

That we seek no additional work, but rather concentrate among our churches in re-opening our state missions to extend and expand the service of all creditable evangelists and expand our work upon the state and national scale, the churches against all odds to realize that we are obligated to continually commit our resources to the work of God, and that we seek to do this as profitably as we can, and in doing so we hope to increase our opportunities to serve the cause of our Master.

That we enthusiastically commend the plan of the Home Mission society to organize new states under three great divisions of Western, Central and Eastern, each division to have a representative committee with an independent committee to assist him, that as soon as it is practicable we encourage our associations to do to secure a closer and more effective organization of our forces.

WAR CHALLENGES SUPREMACY OF PRESBYTERIANS

Conflict Abroad Forces Crisis on Church, With Others, Is Asserted in Sermon by Moderator Stevenson.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire
Atlanta, Ga., May 18.—The tenth annual session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church opened here today. Feeling engendered by efforts to elect another moderator from the east put some into the convention at the start.

In his annual sermon, Moderator Stevenson declared that the conflict in Europe was a direct challenge to the church that could not be overlooked, according to meant either a transnational revival of faith or a blindfold invasion of unbelievers.

The sermon and communion completed the morning session. There are ten-seventy candidates in the election for permanent clerk of the assembly.

There is more Luther in this section of the country than all other forms put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be Presbyterians. For a great many years Luther predominated in a local sense and preserved local remedies and in community failing to agree with local conditions, professed it. Presbyterians have proven Luther to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. His Church has now disappeared by W. J. Cheever & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure for the ulcer. It is failing to furnish its patients directly on the blood and tissues surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any who can prove to cure. Send the name and testimony.

Defense in Orpet Case May Seek to Show Knowledge of Quick Agents of Death, Is Indication Today.

By Evening Herald Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., May 18.—With four men testifying yesterday in both the prosecution and defense, the examination of prospects of poison in the trial of Will Orpet, former University of Wisconsin student, charged with the murder of actress Lambert, his high school sweetheart, continued today.
